Food Handler Training Procedure

I. PURPOSE:

Food handler training educates food service staff members on how to safely make and serve food to the public. To protect the public from food-borne diseases and out breaks, ICPHD will require documentation of food handler training during routine food inspections.

II. POLICY:

Require proof of proper safe food handler training at each routine inspection from the appropriate staff.

III. PROCEDURE:

During each routine inspection, the Health Authority will request documentation of safe food handler training from the appropriate staff. Documentation may be produced in either paper or electronic format. Proof or absence of documentation will be documented in the inspection form under item 57, Employee Training: “All food employees have food handler training”.
